DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of the invention of Group I, claims 1-8, in the reply filed on 11/5/08 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gallapoo (3,287,057).

Gallapoo shows a gripping unit having outwardly facing surfaces (54,56) and inwardly facing surfaces (86,88), an actuation mechanism (90,92), a drive assembly (100-106), and a biasing element (118). It is pointed out that the inwardly and outwardly facing surfaces are capable of handling different kinds of articles (e.g. articles of varying weights or textures).

4. Claims 1, 2, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pierce et al. (4,121,868).

The patent to Pierce et al. shows a plurality of gripping jaws (32) whose gripping surfaces are designed to engage either the outer surface of an object or the inner surface of different objects (see col. 5, lines 12-14).

5. Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by either Shinn (209,989) or Kaufman (5,192,106).

Both Shinn and Kaufman show holding tools capable of gripping the internal surface of an object or the external surface of a different object.

6. Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese Patent JP 11300675.

Japanese Patent JP 11300675 shows a gripping tool comprising a gripping unit having jaws (8), biasing element (9), actuator (4), and drive (2). The gripping tool functions in an expanded configuration to grip the inner peripheral surface of an object, see fig. 3(2), as well as in a contracted configuration to grip an outer peripheral surface of an object of another kind, see fig. 3(1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Patent JP 11300675 in view of Japanese Patent JP 2002036162.

The Japanese ('675) tool was presented above in section 6 but does not disclose its drive unit as a diaphragm as is called for in claim 6 of the instant application.

However, Japanese Patent JP 2002036162 discloses a holding tool similar to the Japanese ('675) device , but its drive unit is a diaphragm in the form of a rubber sleeve (3) which deforms under fluid pressure for spreading gripping jaws (14).

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the drive unit of the Japanese ('675) tool in the form of a deformable diaphragm, similar to that shown in the Japanese ('162) patent as an alternative yet functionally equivalent means of displacing the gripping jaws. The resulting diaphragm drive would be less expensive to manufacture.

Drawings

9. The drawings are objected to because in Figure 3, the reference numeral "29" should be changed to -27—(see page 6, lines 24-28 of the specification). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency.

Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

10. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: "135". Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Each of the remaining cited references shows a gripper for engaging both the inner and outer surfaces of various objects.
